

A medical certificate necessary for your flying licence?

Are you a class 1, 2, 4 or LAPL pilot?

In that case, you must be examined by an approved medical practitioner in order to obtain or renew your flying licence. When flying, you must be holder of a valid medical certificate.

Are you looking for an expertise centre for your medical examination?

The doctors of the Federal Aviation Medical (FAM) of the Administration of Medical Expertise (Medex) are accredited by the FPS Mobility. The FAM delivers certificates that meet the strict criteria of the European Aviation Safety Agency (EASA).

All examinations (blood test, NET examination, eye examination, audiogram, spirometry, ECG...) are carried out in the centre, and last a couple of hours. It is therefore not necessary to visit various specialists. Certified specialists as well as material are available at the FAM.

ISO 9001
BUREAU VERITAS
Certification

More information?

You will find information regarding the various categories, medical certificates, medical examinations, tariffs, application forms for an appointment as well as a summary of what to take along with you to the medical examination on www.medex.belgium.be/ECLG

Contact Centre: 02/524 97 97

E-mail:

Eclg-cema@medex.belgium.be

Access

The FAM is located in the centre of Brussels, near the Midi Station.

For those coming by car, you can park your vehicle for free in the «Q-Park» car park, level -6

Eurostation
Place Victor Horta 40/10
1060 Brussels

